DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Meyers Farm is located on the northeast side of Maryland Route 213 approximately two miles southeast of Kingstown and 1/4 mile west of Union Church.

The large frame house on the Myers Farm is five bays wide and 1 1/2 stories high, with a steeply pitched gable roof. The principal facade is oriented to the southwest, facing Route 213. The dominant feature of this facade is a steeply pitched central cross gable flanked by equally distinctive dormer windows. The central entrance is framed with side-lights and transom and is flanked by two large 6/6 windows on each side. Five 6/6 windows are ranged across the second story; a single segmentally arched 6/6 window is centered in the cross gable. The pitched roof dormers are unusually large and feature narrow paired segmentally arched 1/1 windows below a round bullseye window. The original siding has been covered with asbestos shingles, but the boldly bracketed cornice and an original bracketed porch survive intact.

This house was surveyed as part of a State highway survey and was not analysed in detail.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The large frame house on the Myers Farm is an excellent example of a house form that was extremely popular in rural Maryland in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The 2 1/2 story five bay facade is in this case further embellished with a steeply pitched cross gable, distinctive flanking dormer windows, bracketed cornices and a one story front porch with elaborate scroll-sawn brackets.
